Training for Trainers unlocks system value

Training for Trainers

In today's world we spend a lot of money on new technology, but only use a fraction of the functionality and features on offer. People simply don't have the time to keep up with all the options.

That's why we recommend that anyone with responsibility for our market leading learning management system, SkillsHub™, should consider taking our introductory training modules. A day spent getting to know the system thoroughly will pay off handsomely over the course of a year.

A Day's Training

We will spend time with you in your offices making sure you are adept with all SkillsHub™ has to offer. As a rule we find that one day's intensive training is the right level of preparation, but when specific needs are identified, we do provide different packages.

Upon completion you become the organisation's resident expert.

Client Relationship Manager

We are not in the business of selling and walking away. Every one of Absolutely's clients is allocated a Client Relationship Manager who will be in regular contact to iron out any problems or issues should they arrive. Their job is to help you derive maximum value from your investment and they are always at the end of the phone if you have any questions.

Regular Tips

Bi-monthly we send our clients a newsletter entitled Informer. This online bulletin provides the latest information regarding the system and helpful tips on how to use it more effectively.
